I'm always on the lookout for a bargain or something that can enhance life both at church and at home. So, when I received an email recently letting me know that the Church Army were launching Good News Confectionary, as a brand new way of sharing the Good New of Jesus through delicious, sugar-free sweets, I was all for it.

The bonus was that they were giving away 50 boxes to every UK church and all I had to do was to 'click here' to order them. Well my mouse was hovering over the button, when I noticed the flavours of the sweets. Water & Wine flavour - I can go with that I thought; Loaves & Fishes flavour - a bit unusual, but who knows and a clever link to the gospel story; and finally Lamb & Lion flavour... I hesitated. It was then I looked at the date of the email - 1st April 2022

I realised that this was a very clever April Fools' joke and I had almost been taken in by my desire to get something for free. That's the trouble isn't it that we so often what to get something that doesn't cost us anything. As we enter these last few days of Lent and our attention turns towards Holy Week and beyond, we can so easily be like one of the crowd that lined the streets of Jerusalem, cheering and waving a man who they thought would give them the freedom from Roman oppression, a man who did miraculous things... apparently for free!

Yet with his arrest and seeming powerlessness to overcome the authority of the leaders of the day, our enthusiasm, like that of the adulating crowd, can wane and drift away. Surely it would cost us too much to make ourselves stand out at a time like this?

Yet here was a man who knew what it would cost; there was no free bargaining chip or get out of jail free card for him. His would be the ultimate cost paid - with his life. How easy would it have been for his followers to say, 'well it was an interesting ride, but it's back to the fishing boats, the tax booth, being a zealot (though for whom it would be hard to imagine) for us all'.

The fact was that he was offering the greatest imaginable free gift to everyone; the hope of reconciliation and eternal life, and the opportunity to live life in all its true abundance. No catches, no small print, just sign up and try it for yourself - It's all free! I think I could have safely have clicked on that application!

Wishing you all a wonderful and blessed Easter this year.

God bless,

Linda

A note from the Church Wardens

We would like to thank everyone who helped in any way with the church cleaning on 19th March, and also to Debbie Beckett for making soup for everyone. It was really good to have a lot of people working together to make the church gleam!

Best wishes,

Diana

Queens Platinum Jubilee celebrations 2nd June 2022

St James' Church have been invited to run a BBQ at the West End Parish Council celebrations. The event is for all the family and will commence at 6pm on Thursday 2nd June on Hatch Grange. Planning is in its early stages, but we are keen to take part in this great community event. Steve and Helen Wiseman are happy to coordinate this, but they will need volunteers to make this a success, if you are interested in finding out more, please let Helen or Steve know, thank you in advance.

Christmas (sorry to mention this so early in the year). In 2021 we had a number of knitted Nativity sets donated to St James, and were very pleased to be able to sell them to make much needed funds for the church. The set comprises 12 characters from Joseph to a very woolly sheep; Joseph's character being approx. 20cm high - the tallest in the set. So the word is going out to seek volunteer knitters, who can knit either one or more characters, or a full set of 12! The pattern suggests oddments of wool, and we can supply stuffing if needs be, along with stiff card tubes to help the characters stand up. If you would like some more information (without any obligation whatsoever) please contact Helen Wiseman.

Picture Reflections

The picture on the front cover this month was contributed by Debbie Becket. 'We spotted this delightful proposal whilst walking the causeway to St Michael's Mount in Cornwall. How romantic is that? A positive, happy thing amidst a troubled world... We saw the couple and he'd asked her Dad and arranged for a drone to record the moment too. He even went down on one knee - they're the 3rd and 4th from the left of the photo. My proposal certainly wasn't as elaborate, but with our 30th wedding anniversary coming up next month, I think we can safely say that it didn't matter!' - Debbie

Do you have a picture that you would like to be featured on the front of our magazine? Perhaps you have a prayers or reflections that you contribute to go with the picture. Send your pictures to Kate Badcock at stjameswe.magazine@gmail.com. It would be fabulous to see some of your pictures. (Please do not send pictures with people featuring in it unless we can confirm their express permission to use it)

Ordinary Lives by Brenda Holden

What is an ordinary life?
We are all extraordinary ...we are all wonderful beings created by God to enjoy the life that has been gifted to us.

What is an ordinary life?
We arise every morning...we eat...we work...we love...we go to bed...
Where would we be without those who share our ordinary lives those who make the ordinary, extraordinary?

What is an ordinary life?

Every day is special and we can enjoy unique experiences...
the delight of sunshine and breezes on our faces ...the smell of new mown grass...
the sound of children playing games....turning the pages of a well-loved book...
sharing creativity with our Creator...

What is an ordinary life?
We don't appreciate the ordinary until we are shaken by some experience that shatters our lives and our world leaving us to long for the ordinary once more.

Thank you God for our ordinary lives!

Quiet Spaces

We are all facing the challenges of life at the moment...perhaps you long for some time away from stress and anxiety? Do you feel God calling you to spend some time with him in stillness in the company of a small group from our church community? Perhaps Quiet Spaces might be for you?

We meet about 3 times each school term and new members are always welcome. We have recently started a group that will be meeting in half terms and school holidays. Bookings are made when the days and times are circulated to members.

Each meeting we share prayer, a time of stillness and we discuss our reflections on the theme for the month which aims to bring God's presence into our everyday lives. If this is something you are feeling called to explore in more detail, please contact Brenda Holden on 02380 474826 or email bmholden84@gmail.com

Churches in the UK

- There are 2,368 churches named after Saint Mary

But how many St James?

Thank You to Betty and David for these snippets!

Aprils Fools Day

It all began in 1752 when we changed over to the Gregorian calendar on 1st January. In the previous Julian calendar, the New Year was celebrated with a festival that began on 25th March and ended 1st April. This was much like Christmas with an exchange of gifts and indulgence, but with what was thought of a lack of Christian Spirit. When the calendars changed over the 1st April remained a 'joke' New Year that was marked by token gifts and a bit of revelry.

Churches Together in Hedge End, West End and Botley are connected together for the good of our community.

Welcome to Newcomers

Hello!

We hope you are enjoying living in a new community in this lovely part of Hampshire. If you are interested in coming to church you will find that the churches around here vary in size and style. We hope there is one to suit you and you will be very welcome at worship services or at the many other activities our churches offer.

You can just come along but you may like to browse through the various church websites to get a flavour of each one, or make a phone call and speak with someone for more details. We would love to hear from you and meet with you.

In case you are wondering about the logo for Churches Together, the logo portrays the Church as a ship afloat on the sea of the world with the mast in the form of a cross, itself the key symbol of the Christian faith. The symbol of a boat is common throughout the ecumenical movement, having been used by the World Council of Churches since 1948. Its origin is in the Gospel stories, where Jesus called the Galilean fishermen and later stilled the storm on the lake of Galilee.

Although refreshed in 2019, and earlier in 2014, this has been the logo of Churches Together in England since 1997. It was preceded by a similar boat and cross, within the pilgrim shell of St James of Compostela. The current logo retains the shell in stylised form, now often interpreted as rays flowing from the cross of Jesus, who draws all people to himself.

Can you volunteer a little of your time?

Volunteering is a great way to give something back to your community. Volunteering offers vital help to the community, but the benefits are even greater for you. The role can help you to find friends, connect with the community, learn new skills, and even advance your career. Your mental and physical health improves too – so why not?

SO18 Big Local is a lottery funded, resident-led group and we have a variety of roles that may suit you, including running craft sessions, litter picking, helping promote and look after our green spaces, community growing, or even getting involved at the community pantry. Perhaps you could come and join your friendly neighbours, and join our partnership committee, who meet monthly to decide what is needed in our community, and actually make things happen in your area. If you are interested in joining our committee or volunteering with us please contact us at info@so18biglocal.org.uk

Our tree trail for April will change after Easter Sunday to reflect the joy of the Risen Lord in the words of our beautiful Easter Hymns.

> At the Welcome tree you will find the words of Jesus Christ is Risen Today

And in the box you will find Easter egg shapes to decorate to remind us of the empty tomb and the joy of Easter Sunday.

Moving on to the Faith tree he you will find the wonderful words of In Christ Alone.

In the box you will find butterfly shape to decorate and tie to the tree to represent transformation, change, hope and love.

The Thank you tree has the words from Let All The World in Every Corner Sing.

In the box you will find resources to create an image of creation to add to the tree.

Next visit the Praise tree her you can read the words of In the Garden

In the box you will find flowers to decorate and tie to the tree to remind us of the new life promised to us.

Finally at the Worry tree you will find the words of Sing out an Easter Song.

In the box you will find ribbons to tie to the tree as you think about the joy that comes from knowing the risen Lord.

The revision of the Church Electoral Roll is taking place this April. This is the time when new members are officially entered on the Roll, and the names of those who have passed away or moved away or no longer wish to be on the Roll are removed.

Only persons on the Electoral Roll have the right to vote at the Annual Meeting, and, having been on the Roll for six months, can take up positions of responsibility within the Church.

If you are a regular attendee and wish to come onto the Roll, please take a green form from the table at the back of church, fill in your details and return the form to the Electoral Roll Officer (ERO)

Only new members need to fill in a form: if you filled in a form last year, in 2020 or 2019, you DO NOT need to do so now. Any queries, please ask the ERO for help.

Please also let the ERO know of any changes of address, telephone number or email address so that the roll can be brought up to date.

Read Easy Southampton

Sue Overell writes: In the summer of 2020, during the first Covid-19 lockdown, Vicky sent out via her weekly email details of organisations looking for volunteers, and Dave, my husband (who retired at the end of 2019) volunteered for one of them. This was "Read Easy Southampton" and he has since taken on the position of Treasurer, IT Support and Data Protection Officer for this local branch of the national group. Below is a description of the group and their aims and achievements to date:

Ready Easy Southampton is a registered affiliate group of Read Easy UK, a national charity which provides free, confidential one-to-one reading coaching for adults from trained volunteers, through locally-run, affiliated volunteer groups. You may have seen on TV "Jay Blades: Learning to Read at 51" in which Read Easy UK helped Jay, the presenter of The Repair Shop, to develop his reading skills. (The programme first aired on BBC1 on 26th January and is available on iPlayer.)

Following the formation of Read Easy Southampton in June 2021 our team of 12 volunteers has worked very hard to secure the funds we need to allow us to purchase the training and reading materials our coaches need to start helping Southampton adults improve their reading skills.

We created links to local organisations who refer people needing help with literacy skills to us, and at the same time help publicise our work to local communities, allowing people to contact us directly. At the same time we recruited and trained coaches who have already started working with readers in various venues around Southampton using the manuals we have purchased.

Readers meet their coaches twice a week, for just half an hour at a time, at an approved venue. We believe it is important to make the experience flexible and fun for the reader, with no timescales or pressure attached. We have had a fantastic response from people who have volunteered to be coaches. We are actively recruiting more reading coaches to meet demand, particularly in the West End area. If you can spare a couple of hours a week to change the life of an adult who struggles to read we would love to hear from you.

Our fundraising to date has involved sponsoring one of our team for a 10k run, corporate and personal donations, grants from local trusts and a JustGiving page.

On 24th January this year the Read Easy Southampton team held their official launch ceremony at the Mayor's Parlour in Southampton Civic Centre, with the Mayor, Councillor Alex Houghton in attendance along with reading coaches and former students.

The Thursday Murder Club by Richard Osman

I usually avoid reading novels written by celebrities, but this book was passed to me by a friend with a recommendation to read it. I am pleased that I did. I can strongly recommend it as a light and entertaining read for sitting in a chair in the spring sunshine or to take away on holiday for an uplifting read.

The idea of a murder being entertaining is perhaps rather weird, but the style of writing carries you along.

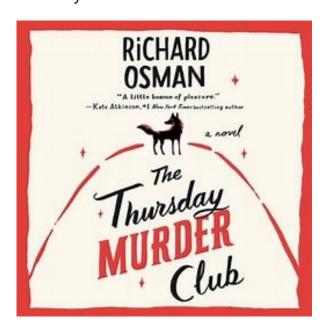

The opportunity to hear about the exploits of Elizabeth, Joyce, Ibrahim and Ron who are all pushing 80 gives all of us hope that old age can hold new experiences for all of us! Life in their retirement village was definitely not a 'winding down' for them.

It was described as being warm, wise and witty warning never to underestimate the elderly by Val McDermid and I would agree wholeheartedly.

In the tradition of so many dramas on the television todaythe end makes us want to acquire and turn the pages of the continuation of the story of the group of friends in 'The Man Who Died Twice'.

Has anyone read that yet? It is on my 'to do' list!

Brenda Holden

Thankyou to Brenda who submitted our 'Book Club' review this month. Please send in your reviews to stjameswe.magazine@gmail.com, it is always lovely to share the likes, dislikes and recommendations of books, fiction or non-fiction.

AN INVITATION to St James' Community Coffee Morning we look forward to welcoming you

"In your Easter bonnet, with all the frills upon it..."

The words in the title come from the song Easter Parade, from Irving Berlin's 1948 film of the same name, and its fame has rather made Easter bonnets sound as if they're an American invention. And, of course, the Americans have embraced the whole idea of bigger, better, more creative, ever more flamboyant... etc. when it comes to wearing hats on Easter Sunday, and for the parades organised across the country to show off the Easter bonnets.

But the 'Easter bonnet' tradition goes back to a time far earlier than 1948, and to even earlier than the 19th century when those Easter parades began springing up across the US.

A makeover for 'Sunday best'

As befitting anything with 'Easter' in the title, the origins of the Easter bonnet relate to churchgoing.

Easter is seen as a time of renewal, and from early days, people began to look to wearing new, clean clothes as a mark of respect to reflect this. In 300AD, the Roman Emperor Constantine instructed his court to wear their best, new clothing for Easter Sunday, and in the Middle Ages, Christians increasingly took up the practice to symbolise the resurrection of Jesus.

With the chaste period and fasting of Lent over, people down the centuries have been keen to indulge in a little luxury at Easter. A makeover for their 'Sunday best' could often be as anxiously looked forward to as a return to eating the richer foods denied throughout the previous 40 days.

The diarist Samuel Pepys recorded on Easter Day, 30 March 1662: "Having my old black suit new furbished, I was pretty neat in clothes to-day, and my boy, his old suit new trimmed, very handsome."

Superstition even grew as to it being unlucky to not wear a new outfit. The following warning appeared in the late 17th century, in the almanac series Poor Robin:

At Easter let your clothes be new Or else be sure you will it rue.

No lady would be seen without a hat

So now we come to the 'bonnet' part.

For women, it was virtually unthinkable to venture outside the home without a head covering of some sort until pretty much mid-20th century. The hat was an essential element of a woman's ensemble, and often the focal point of an outfit.

Hats were also one of the easiest items of clothing for remodelling, refashioning or revamping.

In spring, with flowers coming into bloom, and an abundance of hedgerow foliage to collect, the addition also of a new ribbon or two, perhaps the careful placing of a snip of lace - an existing hat could be transformed.

So, income and social standing didn't matter. Anyone could turn out in a 'new' hat on Easter Sunday, and tradition grew for these bonnets to be adorned with the symbols of spring.

The reason why they're referred to as 'bonnets' rather than hats goes back to the Americans again, and the annual parades.

These are not full-blown organised affairs with floats and pageants, but just ordinary people taking to the streets to process in their Easter Sunday outfits - and which is how the parades originated, back in the latter part of the 19th century. Traditionally, at the end of a Sunday service, American churchgoers - like many in countries across the world - would take a leisurely, sociable stroll home. And of course, for the stroll home on Easter Sunday, the ladies would be sporting their smart, new Easter hats. The parades really began to attract notice in the 1870s, and at that time ladies' hats were called bonnets.

Timeout wrote of New York's forthcoming 2019 parade: "The annual Easter Parade and Bonnet Festival will be shutting down eight blocks of Fifth Avenue in Midtown—from 49th Street up to 57th Street—for hours of leisurely strolling while wearing a hat. That's right, this "parade" is literally just a crowd of people walking."

These 'people walking' were estimated to number over a million in New York's 1947 Fifth Avenue Easter Parade.

Children's Easter bonnets

Few primary schools today do not have an Easter 'bonnet' or 'hat' parade. If you're a mum or grandma - or dad or grandpa - and have been asked to help, but are short of ideas, this website is a great source for inspiration - https://www.madeformums.com/toddler-and-preschool/5-easy-last-minute-easter-bonnets/.

"Oh, I could write a sonnet about your Easter bonnet" (Easter Parade)

Although not able, to write this fable, As in Irving's song, a sonnet, The years unfold, the story's told, The tale of the Easter bonnet.

Life At St James

Recalling events and activities over the years since 1890, this gives us a fascinating glimpse into what was happening at St James' church set in the context of the world around it. Maybe this will stir some memories of your own. Please do share them at stjameswe.magazine@gmail.com

125 years ago (1897) – Having recently attended the latest meeting of the Parish Council it was interesting to note the report on work done in the previous year: It referred to 'the prolonged negotiations of the Council on the subject of the Chickenhall Footpath, a matter which it is hoped has now been satisfactory arranged, to repairs on the Barnes Land Footpath, postal facilities, the roads, the lighting of the Village, telegraphic communication, hydrants, the freeing of the Itchen Bridges, and other matters relating to the welfare and convenience of the Parish.'

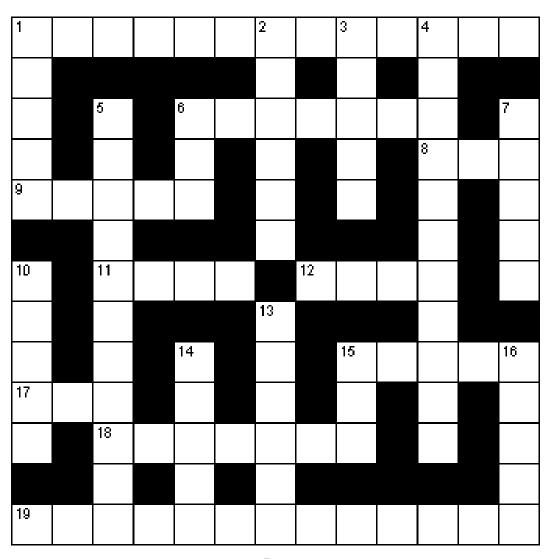

100 years ago (1922) – Reverend Roland Dawson had something to say on the matter of separation, 'Now as regards my position about married couples not being separated, I am still of the same opinion, that it is not the duty of man to separate husband and wife; I go on principles and defend them, and I stand upon that ground and that alone. I believe if a referendum were taken of men and women on this subject that there would be an overwhelming majority on my side of the question. From all that has been said to me recently, I have not found one person yet who agrees with the other view.' Not a debate on separation and divorce but the fact that husbands and wives were separated when they had to be admitted to the Workhouse. He goes on to say, 'I cannot admit the principle that because a man and his wife through misfortune are compelled to go to the Workhouse, that they should forfeit their Liberty and be subject to such severe discipline.'

75 years ago (1947) – The Reverend Ivor Machin published 'some comments on the Church by an intelligent Service man of 30'. They included, 'People who attend religious services are either the emotionally immature 'teenagers' or the formal and conventional 'over forties'. The young man and woman of 30 dislikes strict formalism and is repelled by emotionalism. Advice to the parson - give guidance to the people in finding the parts of the service; explain the meaning of particular psalms and lessons, and say why they have been chosen for that day; be unafraid of making mistakes; preach conversational sermons; have a hymn in the middle of the address; advertise the services more; be more of a leader; get people to join in the prayers aloud'. Like Reverend Machin said, at least something to think about!

50 years ago (1972) – The Shell Club was celebrating being three months old and 'now has a membership of almost fifty youngsters mainly between the ages of eleven and fifteen.' It's clientele was 'fairly representative of the parish - children of church homes, scouts, guides, choristers, Sunday schools, more of Harefield school and their friends.' They were building up resources, and making plans for the future, but with 'much of the effort falling on the shoulders of five or six people of whom half are still at school' more help was needed.... Which reminds me, Ignite could do with a few more adult helpers as well to add to our all female cast.

10 years ago (2012) - The Spring Fair was upon us and calls were already going out for the Christmas Tree Festival, particularly knitter to make squares for a knitted 'community tree'. In amongst it all was a Skittles Evening organised by HOPE. Playing skittles is always great fun and brings out the competitiveness in many of us. Maybe we could persuade the HOPE committee to look at something similar in the future. What do people think?

Church of England Telephone Line

If you know of someone who doesn't have access to online services the Church of England have launched a free national telephone line offering music, prayers and reflections as well as full services. It is available 24 hours a day on 0800 804 8044. Callers will hear a special greeting from the Archbishop before being able to choose from a range of options including hymns, prayers and reflections. Please do let anyone know who might find this helpful.

WEST END CORONAVIRUS SUPPORT

This group has a Facebook page called "West End Coronavirus Support Group" and residents can also contact Julie Haylett, the organiser, on 028 8047 0610.

They have also collected shopping and other essentials thanks to the volunteers in the group who are offering their time to help other in need within their community.

The team are also working with local fish and chip shops in West End on a Wednesday and have been delivering meals to those who are currently stuck inside.
